Rooted

A young woman stands in a navy-blue dress, on the right side of the frame. Her curly, brown hair sits on her shoulder. Only the edge of her body is within the frame, cut off before any of her head is visible. Her arm is bent at a right angle at her elbow, where a trail of dirt leads to a rue plant sitting in her cupped palm. The plant grows from a ball of dirt, still holding the shape of a planter, and reaches towards the top left corner of the frame.
